G. E. "Dutch" Crest
Remembers Disastrous
'98 Shawneetown Flood

G. E. "DUTCH" CREST, the thresherman and producer of big eggs back just a piece from Pankenville, came in yesterday with an unusual picture.

The photo is on a postal card and underneath it are these words: "Break in the Shawneetown levee that caused the flood on Sunday, April 3rd, 1898, 4:30 p. m." That's the photo at the top of this column.

Right there on the picture is a gap in the levee with water in between and people on the other side looking at it.

"The picture was taken after the water had receded some," Mr. Crest said.

"Dutch" was a boy living at Equality at the time of the 1898 flood, which was caused by the break in the north levee, over which the road now rises and descends to go to Big Lake, Round Pond and other spots in that general direction.

"We went down to see the flood the first day we could get into town," he said. "It was like a county fair, so many people were there to see what had happened."

"Right after we got there we saw them bring in the body of an elderly man who had drowned," he continued. "Later we saw them bring in the bodies of two drowned women. There was a cobblestone road that was built up pretty high and they landed the boat at this cobblestone road near the old court house steps."

Mr. Crest stood and saw the break in the levee just like the people in the picture, who are barely discernible near the left center of the photo.

"It cleaned out about 200 feet of levee and took away a lot of buildings in its path," he stated. "At the time, people down there claimed that muskrats had worked holes in the levee and when the waters came up they started working out the dirt and then burst through."

"Down at the other end of town you could see the bodies of cattle, hogs and chickens piled up against the side of the south levee."

A look back into history shows that this flood of 1898, caused by water breaking through the levee, was the most disastrous of all the Shawneetown floods in loss of life. Twenty-five persons perished as the tremendous pressure of the

Be Kept Confined

Mayor Claud Gibbons today urged dog owners to keep their animals confined, as he is receiving numerous complaints about dogs running at large and doing damage at this time of year. He pointed out that owners are subject to arrest for letting their dogs run loose and are liable for damages done by their animals.

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Legislature began its 13-day Easter recess Thursday.

The legislators left Springfield Wednesday afternoon in somewhat lighthearted mood, after hurrying through the day's calendar and committee meetings with a minimum of argument and oratory.

They left a flood of new bills to tackle when they return late this month, however. Some 160 bills were dropped in the legislative hopper Wednesday.

Among them was a bill which would require persons who receive general relief payments from the state to assign their bank accounts, insurance policies and other property in return.

It would also place a lien against the estate of any person on relief, so welfare claims against the estate could be collected in event of death.

The lien law recommendation was the key proposal of a legislative committee, headed by Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston) which has been investigating the high cost of public aid in times of prosperity.

Pass Two School Bills

Money repaid under the lien law would go to the welfare agency which distributed the relief payments — county, township or city — and then would be divided between the state and local governments according to the contribution each made to the assistance program.

In floor action Wednesday the Senate passed a bill to permit local school boards to decide if schools in their districts should require physical education classes. Physical education classes are now mandatory throughout the state.

The measure also would affect the four state teachers colleges. It was passed over the objection of the School Problems Commission, which had recommended the present physical education program of 200 minutes a week be reduced to 150, with supervised recess activities also counting toward physical education time.

The measure now goes to the House. Also passed and sent to the House was a bill to permit two or more school districts to cooperate in establishing a junior college program, using existing school facilities.

Another measure sent to the

Invalid Mother
Plunges to Death

NEW YORK — The invalid mother of two young children waited Wednesday night until her husband and a group of friends returned to their Greenwich Village apartment from dinner.

Mrs. Hilda Goldman, 36, greeted them quietly, excused herself and jumped 26 floors from a bedroom balcony to her death.

Police said Mrs. Goldman, wife of attorney Harold P. Goldman and mother of two sons, Robert, 8, and Richard, 5, had been bedridden for three years with a heart ailment.

Fewer Five-Cent
Newspapers,
Survey Discloses

NEW YORK (AP) — Three hundred and seventy-nine of the nation's 1,738 daily English language newspapers are now selling for more than a nickel, the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. reported Wednesday.

The ANPA's annual survey of newspaper prices showed that 97 of those newspapers had raised prices during the last year.

As of today, the ANPA said, 69 newspapers are selling for six cents, 249 for seven cents and 61 for ten cents. There were only 43 ten-cent newspapers a year ago.

Sunday editions of daily newspapers retailing at 10 cents represent 44.4 per cent of total, compared with 44.9 per cent in the last survey. Number selling at six cents, seven cents, 20 cents and 25 cents increased, while number of five-cent, 10-cent, 12-cent and 15-cent decreased.

Carrier Mills
Buys Additional Water Supply

Carrier Mills' water supply has been more than doubled as the result of action completed this week.

An abandoned stripping operation of approximately 50 acres with a water capacity of about 60 million gallons has been purchased by the village from Charley Harris and Gus McDonald.

The property is just north of the city limits of Carrier Mills and has been abandoned so long that the sides are all earth covered and there is no copper in the water. "The water has been tested and approved by health authorities," a village official stated.

The property, an old Blue Bird stripping operation, is known as the Dodd strip and has been a popular fishing spot for some time. A gate at the south end of the strip controls the water flow and it will be possible to lower the gate and water will flow by gravity to the present pump station on the banks of the Carrier Mills reservoir.

Plans call for building a levee this summer that will increase the water capacity by six feet.

The capacity of the Carrier Mills reservoir is estimated at 40 million gallons. With the newly acquired property in its present condition the water now available is estimated at 100 million gallons.

Purchase price was $975,000, with $1,000 down payment and the balance to be paid out at $1,000 per year.

One official stated, "We think we can make the payments on the additional water sales to tank trucks. In the past we have had to limit sales, but now we can supply all requests for water."

Wilson to Ask Judge to Abandon
April Term Jury

State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson today said he would recommend to Circuit Judge Harold L. Zimmerman of Marion that the grand jury scheduled to appear Monday for the April term of court be abandoned because it was not legally called.

Wilson said a check made by him a few days ago revealed that five townships had not submitted names for the April grand jury. Next scheduled grand jury would be for the September term but Wilson said he will definitely ask for a special grand jury before that time, probably in June.

Both the grand jury, which meets to consider indictments, and the petit jury, which hears evidence in trials, are scheduled to convene Monday.

Wilson said that Zimmerman told him the petition filed yesterday seeking to quash the indictments against County Clerk Don B. Garrison, on the contention the grand jury of the September, 1956, term, which indicted him, was improper, will be brought up Monday morning.

COURT RETAINS CUSTODY—Mr. and Mrs. George Kozmin and their four children appeared in a Chicago court for a hearing on the custody of their children. The parents, who are planning to return to their Russian homeland, wish to take the youngsters with them. Judge John J. Clayton, Jr., ruled that the court would retain custody of the four children for the time being. Mr. and Mrs. Kozmin met in a German DP camp after World War II and married. Their first three children were born in the camp and the fourth was born in the U. S. after the couple came to this country in 1950. None of the youngsters have ever been to Russia. Call Defense
Witnesses
At Stefko Trial

NEW SHAWNEETOWN, Ill. — The trial of the mayor of Old Shawneetown on charges of resisting arrest and helping a prisoner escape is underway.

A jury of seven men and five women heard prosecution witnesses Thursday morning in the case of Mayor Paul Stefko, 65.

Defense witnesses were being heard just before noon.

The case was expected to go to the jury later Thursday.

Principal witness for the prosecution is Gallatin County Deputy Sheriff Jim Fox. Fox said that military policemen had turned over a soldier to him in Old Shawneetown last Aug. 11. Fox said that Stefko allegedly interfered, that the prisoner escaped and that Stefko then resisted arrest.

Stefko failed to show up for his trial last month before Gallatin County Judge Joseph Hale and was jailed overnight. Stefko then asked for a new judge. White County Judge Max Endicott is presiding at the trial.

Although it had been thought considerable time would be needed to select a jury, the jury was completed Wednesday morning after only 14 of the 24-person panel had been questioned.

Two of the panel were excused — one being among a group of friends who paid Stefko's $2,000 bond and the other being excused on a peremptory challenge of the defense.

Jurors selected were Mrs. Amelia Brooks, Equality; Joe Fromm, Ridgway; Ray Kanady, Junction; Woodrow Brinkley, Shawneetown; Amos Drone, Mrs. Sarah Luther and Dan Murphy, Ridgway; Mrs. Rita Bradley and Mrs. Clarence Orman, Shawneetown; Joe Wood, Omaha; Mrs. Ruby Barnum and Martin Abell, Ridgway.

White County Judge Max Endicott entered the case on a change of venue when Stefko asked that Gallatin County Judge Joe Hale be replaced.

Cease Publication
Carrier Mills News,
Eldorado Examiner

CARMI, Ill. — The suspension of publication of weekly and semi-weekly newspapers was announced Thursday by Roy Clippinger, president of the Carmi Times Publishing Co.

Clippinger said Thursday will mark the last publications of the Eldorado Examiner, a semi-weekly, and the Carrier Mills News.

Wednesday, the publishing company announced the sale of two other weeklies, the Gallatin Democrat at Shawneetown and the Ridgway News, to J. O. Wells, Daisy M. Seright and Curtis G. Small of the Register Publishing Co. at Harrisburg.

Clippinger said the sale and suspensions were due to increasing costs and competition. The firm will continue to publish the Carmi Times, a daily, and the Norris City News, a weekly.

Little Wabash
Flood Waters
Hit Carmi Area

By United Press
The flood danger is rising with the Little Wabash River at Carmi Thursday where an estimated 25 families have already been forced to flee their homes.

The Little Wabash rose 9 1/2 inches overnight at Carmi to 32.8 feet which is almost 4 feet above flood stage. A crest of 33 1/2 feet has been predicted for Friday.

Water ran 2 to 3 feet deep in some of the homes in the east section of town and seven streets were blocked.

Most of the flood victims have moved in with relatives or neighbors. Other residents in the low-lying area are keeping a wary eye on the water and some are preparing to move.

The Red Cross is ready to give assistance if the flood danger worsens.

At Mount Carmel, on the Wabash River, water rose more than a half foot Wednesday night to a bout 22 1/2 feet which is near the predicted crest. No evacuations have been reported at Mount Carmel.

Children with Top Sales on Humane Society
Tag Day to Receive Airplane Rides

Kiddies' minds will be aloft Saturday when they work in the annual Harrisburg Humane society Tag Day because six airplane rides over the city are the top prizes offered.

The six children bringing in the most money from their sales of tags will be offered airplane rides, to be given by Travis Gannon, manager and instructor of the Saline Air Service. Written consent of parents must be given before Mr. Gannon will take up the children and if any do not obtain the consent, they will be given cash prizes, not equal, however, to the price of a plane ride.

Sixth graders from the local schools will sell the tags.

The annual tag day, held at the end of the society's fiscal year, is a means by which the society raises money to finance its large program of taking in unwanted and lost animals. During the fiscal year ending March 30, 1,435 animals were handled at the shelter. The previous year the figure was 1,328.

"The public is asked to contribute generously to assist in needed improvements and additional help at the shelter to handle the increases and to enable the society to serve the public better," a society statement said.

Cairo Reports Protest to U. S. on Passage of Tanker

By United Press

A Cairo newspaper said Thursday King Saud of Saudi Arabia had warned Israel that Saudi artillery will open fire on any Israeli ship trying to pass through the Gulf of Aqaba.

The warning was reported by the independent newspaper Al Ahram which also said Saudi Arabia and Egypt had protested formally to the United States against passage of an American tanker through the gulf to an Israeli port.

At the same time an Egyptian spokesman said Israel had refused to withdraw troops from positions on Egyptian territory covering the approaches to the Israeli port of Eilat at head of the Gulf of Aqaba.

In Jordan, where a major political crisis was feared, King Hussein was reported arresting all known Communists in Amman and other Jordan cities in a desperate effort to stay in power.

Hussein also was reported considering placing his country under military government following the resignation of pro-Soviet Premier Suleiman Nabulsi. No outbreaks were reported, but Nabulsi has shown before he can call out mob support from among the Palestinian refugees if he needs it.

Fear Israel Aggression

A dispatch from Amman—one of the few to penetrate the heavy censorship there—said King Hussein Thursday asked former Foreign Minister Hussein Khalidi to form a new cabinet. Diplomatic circles predicted he would be unable to do so. The three major parties in Nabulsi's cabinet announced they would not enter the new cabinet.

A United Press dispatch from Damascus said many Syrian newspapers expressed fear that Israel might "commit aggression against Jordan" if a conflict breaks out between Hussein's and Nabulsi's followers.

Political circles in Damascus affirmed that the Syrian army was ready to aid Jordan in the event of an Israeli attack.

Western diplomats reaching the Israeli sector of Jerusalem Thursday from Jordan said there was no indication whatsoever of a military "showdown" between pro-Soviet and anti-Soviet Arab troops stationed in Jordan. But they said the underground warfare could be decisive in the power struggle.

Arabs Protest to U. S.

American-Egyptian negotiations on operation of the Suez Canal remained stalemated, and Cairo reports said Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi had used the last meeting with U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare to protect against transit of the Gulf of Aqaba by the American tanker Hill with oil for Israel.

Al Ahram said Saudi Arabia sent a formal protest to Washington declaring the passage "was without due respect for national sovereignty over territorial waters and in disregard of the provisions of international law."

The Soviet Union, which has increased its anti-American propaganda broadcasts to the Middle East since announcement of the Eisenhower Doctrine, accused the United States of trying to violate Egyptian sovereignty.

Thinking
It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Love, as a word, appears to be short and possibly insignificant.
Yet love itself is probably the most powerful force ever introduced into the world inhabited by human beings.

This concept was little known, and seldom mentioned in the legalistic world before the coming of Christ. Force and authority reigned supreme in politics, trade and human relations prior to 20 centuries ago.

Throughout Jesus' preaching, and especially in His last days on earth, He taught that love must supersede all of the commandments, all of the laws and all of the prohibitions which then ruled the lives of people.

Today we must recapture and apply this simple concept to our daily living. There has probably never been a time in history when humanity needed more love and more compassion than it needs today. Hatred and suspicion lead only to defeat.

"Every Time He Improves, He Falls Out of Bed Again"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Feud Threatens To Split GOP High Command; Nixon Refuses Engagements Beyond
Three Weeks; General Shifted To Pentagon To Attend Cocktail Parties.

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is taking a brief vacation. During his absence, his column is written by his junior partner, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON. — The long personal feud between the two top House Republicans, GOP Leader
Joe Martin and Congressman Charlie Halleck, may be headed for a showdown. Both are quietly polling their friends to see who has the most support in the Republican ranks.

Joe and Charlie haven't gotten along since they ran the House together during the 80th Congress (1946-48). This personal friction has been fanned to a white heat now by the White House which sometimes ignores Martin and works through Halleck.

Joe is so sore at being passed that he has complained to cronies:
"The way the White House is running things, I won't have a minority to lead after the next election."

Halleck has been whispering around the cloakrooms that Martin promised to step aside and let him have the GOP leadership last January. Charlie claims he was double-crossed while vacationing in Florida.

His game is to rally enough Republican congressmen behind him to control GOP policy in the House. If he could muster enough votes, he might even attempt to oust Martin as GOP leader (though this isn't likely until Congress reorganizes in 1959).

But Martin has no intention of turning the Republican reins over to Halleck. Old Joe has been buttonholing his colleagues and asking them point-blank: "I want to know where you stand."

Most of the old veterans stand solidly behind Joe, though Charlie has made inroads among the younger members. This could develop into a serious rift in the GOP high command.

NIXON'S CALENDAR

Headlines and Footnotes:—Vice President Nixon is turning down engagements more than three weeks in advance. Those sending him invitations (with few exceptions) are told to try again three weeks before they want him.
This naturally stirred speculation that Nixon is keeping his calendar open in case President Eisenhower's health should take a turn for the worse. . . . Charles Patrick Clark, the dictators' lobbyist, will soon lose another client. Already fired by Dominican Dictator Trujillo, Clark will next be dropped by Spain's Dictator Franco. . . .

Congressman James Van Zandt
(R., Pa.) is urging the White House to appoint Congressman Sterling Cole (R., N. Y.) to the Atomic Energy Commission.
Reason: Van Zandt wants to climb the seniority ladder and Cole stands in his way on the Congressional Atomic Watchdog committee. The dapper Pennsylvanian would like to get Cole promoted out of Congress. . . . J. Clifford Folger's appointment as ambassador to Belgium is an object lesson in how to get ahead in the foreign service. His chief qualification: He was the GOP's official money raiser. . . . as a dip-omat, Folger is a fine broker. He landed the Smithsonian Institution's brokerage business while he was Republican National Finance chairman. Of course, his brokerage partner happened to be Robert W. Fleming, son of Smithsonian Executive Committee Chairman Robert V. Fleming.

COCKTAIL CIRCUIT

One reason for Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer's shift from the Far East to the Pentagon is to relieve Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Army chief, from attending so many cocktail parties.

Protocol demands Taylor's presence at receptions almost every evening. He is so tired of the cocktail circuit that he started looking around for someone to help out with the social chores.

It would be bad diplomatic manners for Taylor to send anyone less than his vice chief to represent him at Washington functions.
The present vice chief is a fearless field commander, Gen. Williston Palmer, who won't flinch in the face of an enemy but runs like a rabbit from cocktail parties.

"Willie," as he's called around the Pentagon, is considered a social dud. He stays home studying Army strategy while Taylor wearily chafes to receptions.
The Army chief finally decided he's had enough. He ordered "Willie" transferred to Europe and the more social Lemnitzer brought to the Pentagon as vice chief.

CAPITOL CRUMBLING

Washington Whispers — The sandstone facing under the Capitol dome has been crumbling, impelling tourists who stroll below. Half a dozen sandstone chunks have broken loose. One six-inch piece, big enough to hurt a person seriously, fell from a cornice and bounced off a window slit onto the pavement below. . . .

Five days before the tragic suicide of Canadian Ambassador E.
Herbert Norman in Cairo, British intelligence agents secretly checked the Senate Internal Security committee's files on him.
The committee's public revelations about Norman are blamed for his suicide. . . .

Tousle-haired Senator Frank Lausche (D., Ohio) has impressed his colleagues with his ability.
Senator Joe O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), for one, believes Lausche will become a great senator and told him so. . . . The Air Force almost drafted able Maj. Gen. Sory Smith to come back to the Pentagon and take over the difficult job of press chief. The last minute, Smith was spared for a command assignment. The press job will go instead to aggressive Brig.
Gen. Arno Lehman, who will get a second star to go with it. . . .
The Air Force has protested to NBC over the attitude of playwright Robert Dozier who wrote an anti-military TV play, "A Real Fine Cutting Edge," for the Kaiser Aluminum Hour. When two recruiting sergeants complained to the author, he wrote back bluntly that he deliberately "ran down" the military in his play. . . .
"I am sorry that you spend so much time and effort on your recruiting work," he wrote the sergants. "I am not at all repentant for having effectively destroyed in one hour what it has taken you months to achieve." . . .
This may embarrass the Kaiser Aluminum company which does a big business in defense contracts.

Nominations Received for Lovejoy Award

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Nominations from seven states have been received for the 1957 Elijah Parish Lovejoy Award for Courage in Journalism, according to Dr.
Howard R. Long, chairman of the Department of Journalism at Southern Illinois University.

Winner will be announced during the third annual National Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors July 14-19 on the SIU campus.
Established at the University two years ago, the annual award recognizes a weekly newspaper editor selected for courageous editorial service "in the face of economic, political, or social pressures exerted by members of his own community."

Purpose of the award is to encourage outspoken, yet responsible, participation in local issues on the part of weekly editors.
Long said. The award honors a crusading Alton, Ill., editor who became the first martyr to a free press in America. An ardent abolitionist, Lovejoy was killed by a mob in 1837 when he refused to cease publication.

First recipient was Mrs. Mable Norris Reese of the Mount Dora (Fla.) Topic, who was cited as "a crusading woman editor who defied the Ku Klux Klan in her fight for justice in Florida." The presentation was made in July, 1956.

Nominees for the 1957 award are:

ILLINOIS: Mrs. Louise Ryan,
Life of Niles Township, Skyan.
MAINE: Henry Gosselin, Independent-Reporter, Skowhegan.
MISSOURI: E. J. Melton, Cooper County Record, Booneville; Marion O. Ridings, Advocate-Hamiltonian, Hamilton.
NEW YORK: Joseph Jahn,
Suffolk County News, Sayville; C.
M. MacLachlan, Long Islander, Huntington.
PENNSYLVANIA: Walter N.
Connors, The County Leader,
Newton Square.
TENNESSEE: Horace Wells,
Jr., Courier-News, Clinton.
WISCONSIN: Norman Clapp, Grant County Independent, Lancaster.

The editor chosen for the honor will be a guest of the national conference during its July meeting. Conference president is Houston Waring, Littleton (Colo.) Independent. George Murphy, Manteca (Calif.) Bulletin is vice-president and Long is secretary-treasurer.
Purpose of the conference is to bring together top caliber weekly editors from all parts of the nation for a week of intensive discussions on fundamental issues of the day, Long said.

Senate Committee Votes to Boost Bond Interest Rate

WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee voted Wednesday to raise the interest rate from 3 to 3 1/4 per cent on U. S.
Savings bonds issued after last
Feb. 1.

The higher interest would be paid by shortening the term for which Series E bonds—the most common form—must be held for maturity. They now must be held 9 years and 8 months before bringing full face value. Under the bill approved by the Finance Committee, they would mature in 8 years and 11 months.

The Treasury asked for authority to raise the interest rate to 4 1/4 per cent, though it said it planned now a boost to only 3 3/4 per cent.

The House authorized up to 3 1/2 per cent.

"Bring Your Paint Problems To Paint People"

Birthday Program At First General Baptist Church

The First General Baptist church on West Sloan street is observing its first annual birthday program in the church on Saturday, at 7 p. m. This meeting is for the benefit of the new youth camp, "Camp Oxford," to be built soon at Rudement by the churches of the Ohio association.

The public is invited to attend this birthday meeting.

The program has been arranged under the direction of Mrs. Wilda Frazier, Mrs. Louise Brinkley, Mrs. Ola Maszaros, Mrs. Sylvia Fowler, Miss Linda Deaton and Miss Dolores Wallace.

There will be special singing of duets and trios; a clarinet duet and recitations and dialogues. Two plays will be presented, "A Deadly Dinner" and "The Creep." The latter is the youth camp play.

Following the program there

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois Thursday, April 11, 1957 Page Five

will be a birthday march passing a beautifully decorated altar and continuing to the dining room where cake coffee and punch will be served. The tables will represent the months of the guests' birthdays.

This promises to be a most impressive service and the public is invited to attend and help the youth of today build the church of tomorrow.

Heien Jagger was relieving the day clerk at the desk when Cass entered the lobby. Heien was working on a ledger and did not look up immediately--until her nostrils caught the perfume.

"Everything, I feel almost as if this is home now."

"Perhaps it will be . . . one day," said Heien in a low tone. "Cass!" she exclaimed. "Where in the world have you come from?"

Her eyes widened and a flicker of alarm came and went in them as she recognized Cass Simcoe. "Cass!" she exclaimed. "Where in the world have you come from?"

"St. Louis. I just stepped off the train."

Heien continued to stare at her. "I almost didn't recognize you."

Impulsively, Cass reached out and caught Heien's hand. She squeezed it, then let go of it, embarrassed, lest it seem that her newly won sophistication was only veneer thin.

"Has my father gotten in?" she asked.

"I haven't seen him this year. We were wondering just the other day why he hadn't made a drive."

"He's only making the one this year--a big one. He wrote me six weeks ago and said they were leaving. He wanted me to meet him here."

Heien saw a man coming into the hotel. He was laden with the hat boxes, the valise and the carpetbag. "Don't tell me all of that is yours."

"I'm afraid it is."

"You mean," Heien asked mischievously, "I'll be borrowing a dress from you this time?"

"You can have anything I own!" exclaimed Cass. She stopped, turned and looked around the lobby as the man with the luggage came up and piled it before the desk.

"Thank you," she said. She fumbled in her haste to open her purse and bring out a spotted greenback. She pressed it upon the man, who

Pontiac Springs Another "First!"

-Lowest Priced Car with Tri-Power Carburetion!

Pontiac started 'em all talking by tagging this eye-popping Chieftain below 30 models of the low-price three. Now Pontiac has tossed another firecracker into the low-price field... with Tri-Power Carburetion available at extra cost on any model. Pontiac alone at so low a cost offers this sensational track-proved carburetion system that has officially outperformed super-charged and fuel injection cars. Here's how it works: For normal driving, only one of three double-barrel carburetors is in operation. Ease up... and you're back to the gas-saving economy of one-carburetor operation! In short—your new Pontiac Chieftain can be tame or terrific—at the touch of a toe! Try it, and you'll see why they're biting their nails in the low-price field. Check the car... check the price... and all bets are that you'll graduate to Pontiac with plenty left over in your budget to celebrate the occasion!

Ban Compulsory Retirement, Industry Asked

SPRINGFIELD — A legislative commission urged Thursday that private industry and government permit workers to continue working as long as they are "willing and able."

The commission introduced a resolution to that effect in the Illinois Senate Wednesday, along with a number of bills and other resolutions containing its recommendations.

The commission on problems of the aging and aged, which made the recommendations, was set up in 1955, and headed by Sen. Paul Broyles (R-Mount Vernon).

The principal resolution urged the abolition of compulsory retirement ages by industry and government.

Proposals introduced in bill form would give the Public Ad Commission authority to establish educational and rehabilitation programs for persons over 45 years old to help them to achieve a "more independent economic status."

Another measure would create a nine-member gerontological committee at the University of Illinois, to be named by the U. of I. president, to arrange adult education courses and programs; and recreate the commission on aging and aged to continue its study.

The commission's other resolutions would request the Department of Labor to undertake a statewide campaign to educate business and labor leaders in the advantages of hiring persons in the 45-65 age bracket; and asked the department to obtain and distribute materials concerning employment classifications for persons between 45 and 65.

Preacher Cancels His Funeral After Death Hour Passes

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — A 79-year-old retired Negro preacher cancelled his funeral arrangements Thursday. He waited in vain to die of natural causes.

The Rev. Miles Samuel Carter said 10 days ago "the Lord" told him he was going to die at noon Wednesday. But Carter was in good health, chatting with friends and relatives when the hour came.

It was 10 days ago Carter said that he prayed "Lord, I'm your servant. Don't slip up on me. Let me know."

He said "The Lord then spoke back and told me I'd die at noon Wednesday."

Carter told his friends good-bye and summoned relatives who came from Flint and Lansing, Mich., and Chicago.

A family and friends sat around talking with Carter while he waited.

Arthur Allen, Formerly Of Carrier Mills, Dies at Springfield

Arthur "Jack" Allen, 79, formerly a coal miner of Carrier Mills, died in Springfield yesterday morning. The body will be received at the Thornton funeral home and will lie in state there this afternoon. He is survived by his brothers, Ernest Allen of Culp and Moses Allen of Burlington, Wash., and his sister, Carrie Inge of Kirkwood, Mo.

The funeral will be Friday at 2 p. m. in the Gallilee Baptist church and the body will be taken to the church one hour before the funeral. The Rev. Hughes will officiate and burial will be in the Lake View cemetery south of Carrier Mills.

GOP Believes Only Veto Will Stop Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders said Thursday it looks as if the Democrats are launching a tax-cut drive that probably can't be stopped short of a presidential veto.

They found the Democratic intention in House Speaker Sam Rayburn's statement that he believes chances are good that conditions will be favorable later this year for a cut in personal income taxes and possibly some other taxes effective next Jan. 1.

The Republicans said privately that however strongly the administration opposed a cut it will be hard to stop except with presidential action.

The Democrats officially set two conditions for a tax reduction in a strategy huddle attended by Rayburn, House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) and Democrats of the House Ways and Means Committee which initiates all tax legislation.

Rayburn announced that Democrats will push for a tax cut to take effect Jan. 1 if federal revenues hold up sufficiently and if Congress cuts enough from President Eisenhower's record peace-time budget of nearly 72 billion dollars to justify it.

He emphasized that Democrats "are not going to be irresponsible" and push for tax relief now and will not do so later this year unless it is justified.

Bill by Sen. Kennedy Extends Minimum Pay To Additional Workers

WASHINGTON — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) has introduced a bill to extend the coverage of the $1-an-hour federal minimum wage to an additional five million workers.

He said in introducing the bill Wednesday it would give minimum wage protection "to a large number of workers in enterprises which economic studies have indicated would benefit from such coverage."

Kennedy heads a Senate Labor subcommittee which held hearings on the Minimum Wage Law. The administration has proposed changes in the law which would extend its coverage to about two million workers.

Kennedy said his proposal would broaden coverage of the act to cover the larger retail and service enterprises, construction work, local transit systems, hotels, laundries and other services.

Former Russian Intelligence Officer Predicts Overthrow of Soviet Gov't

CHICAGO — A former Soviet intelligence officer told 1,700 doctors over a closed circuit television broadcast Wednesday night that the Soviet government would be overthrown in the next two or three years.

Nikolai Khoklov, who served in the Soviet intelligence corps for 13 years until he defected in Frankfurt, Germany, in 1954, predicted there would be "an actual overthrow of the Soviet government in two or three years."

Senate Defeats Bill to Boost Corn Acreage

WASHINGTON — Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) Thursday blamed the administration and eastern and southern senators for Senate defeat of a bill calling for an increase in the 1957 corn acreage.

Humphrey and other supporters of the legislation also warned its defeat may result later in sharp drops in grain and livestock prices.

The Senate Wednesday voted 45-35 against the bill. It was a death blow because the House already had rejected two similar bills this year.

The bill would have increased this year's corn acreage in the nation's main corn belt from about 37 million to 51 million acres. It also would have required the so-called commercial corn farmers to take more of their land out of production via the soil bank.

Humphrey, the Senate's chief supporter of the bill, told newsmen it was beaten because of "failure of the administration to support it and a feeling on the part of eastern and southern senators that there was nothing in it for them."

"This vote indicates the efforts of the administration to divide farm forces have been successful," he said.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), an opponent, agreed that "we might have to look out" for a decline in livestock prices next year if the overall production of feed grains, including corn, rises this year. But he said the Senate action may result in less corn planting" this year.

About Town And Country

river swept through the levee to make a maelstrom of the town.

The final report of the relief committee, composed of Charles Carroll, Michael Carney, Frederick Bowman, Carl Roedel and Aaron Meyer, had this to say:

"The high stage of the river registered 53.3 on the gauge. However, no great fears had been entertained against the soundness of the levee and hence no efforts had been made by the public to place in safety any personal property. The damage which resulted was therefore so enormous. Few could forecast the destructive power of such a volume of water should it break into the town.

"When the alarming news of the break was sent, many imagined themselves secure in the second stories of their dwellings and made no attempt to escape to a safe refuge on the front levee, which they could easily have reached. The force of the water carried with it death and destruction."

A committee was dispatched to Junction and Ridgway to tell the outside world of the tragedy and to carry messages of sorrow to relatives of the dead.

Messages were sent Gov. J. R. Tanner, who called for public donations for assistance. Evansville and Mt. Vernon, Ind., hearing of the tragedy, sent a boatload of provisions and followed with offers of shelter and food for all flood sufferers.

The first flood wall to protect the town was constructed after the 1884 flood, when a four and a half mile levee was built at a cost of $200,000. It has been strengthened and heightened since then.

The program was sponsored by two pharmaceutical firms, J. B. Roerig and Pfizer Laboratories. It was produced by Lawrence Spivak in "Meet the Press" fashion as a means to keep "busy doctors" up to date on international developments, a spokesman said. It was seen on special circuits by physicians in 21 cities.

Two other panel members, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the recent U. S. representative to the military committee of the NATO; and Leon Keyserling, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under the Truman administration, disagreed with Khoklov.

Collins said he didn't believe there would be a Soviet revolution "in our time or in our children's time."

Keyserling sided with Collins and said that to anticipate such a revolution would "only be kidding ourselves."

Leaking Chlorine Gas Routs 1,000

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa. — A chlorine tank car parked at a chemical plant in nearby Frisco sprung a leak early Thursday sending green clouds of deadly gas billowing over a mile-square area.

Thirty-nine persons were treated for gas poisoning at Ellwood City Hospital. A score of other residents jammed Ellwood City physicians' offices.

More than 1,000 persons were rooted from their homes until the choking fumes were dispersed.

Legislature Begins Its Easter Recess

House includes sparklers under the law which prohibits the use of fireworks in Illinois.

In other action the House Municipalities Committee voted approval of a bill to limit the work week of firemen in cities of 12,000 or more population to 56 hours.

Records Control Program
The same committee approved a bill to authorize organization of a Joliet port authority.

The House Motor Vehicles Committee approved by a close vote, 14-10, a bill to provide tax relief for bus firms which are running into financial difficulties in many Illinois cities.

Among the bills introduced was a series of 35 which would continue the state records control program set up in 1955. They contain a "right to know" provision, to permit public inspection of most state records.

Another measure introduced Wednesday would remove the requirement that political party county chairmen must be precinct committeemen.

Still another was aimed at disclosing "hidden" ownership of race tracks. It would require race tracks, when applying for racing dates, to file a complete list of its stockholders with the Racing Commission.

The stockholders would be required to reveal for whom, if anyone, they were holding stock. Other bills would require re-registration of all Cook County voters in 1959, and create a new audit division in the office of the superintendent of public instruction to audit school aid claims.

Stratton Vetoes First Measure of Session

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton used his veto pen Thursday for the first time this legislative session.

Stratton vetoed a bill sponsored by Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill (R-Downers Grove) that would have required subdivision contractors to get a permit from the county board before stripping off topsoil.

The governor vetoed the bill on grounds it was unconstitutional.

Trio Fined for Reckless Driving

Three young men from St. Louis, Charles Roberts, Leo Webb and Earl Seagraves, yesterday pleaded guilty to charges of reckless driving when arraigned before County Judge Trafton Dennis and were fined $10 and costs each.

The trio was arrested early yesterday morning by Eldorado Policeman Donald Hopkins and Deputy Sheriff Charles Donelson at an Eldorado motel upon complaint of a Route 45 service station attendant, who said they had been driving recklessly.

Stratton Sends Tree From Illinois Park for White House Grounds

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton has sent a black walnut tree from New Salem State Park to Washington for planting on the White House lawn.

The tree, which will be planted April 12, was requested by President Eisenhower.

Stratton sent regrets that he could not attend the planting ceremonies and said, "We in Illinois are proud to have a tree from the Land of Lincoln planted on these historic grounds."

Former Convict Kills Wife, Mother-In-Law, Himself

TRENTON, Mo. — A former convict, who saved a guard's life during a prison riot, killed his wife and mother-in-law with shotgun blasts Wednesday night and then took his own life while his three small children watched.

Freddy Dykes, 28, shot and killed his 20-year-old wife, Carolyn, and her mother, Mrs. Gordon Scott, in the living room of the Scotts' farm home while his children sat by, Sheriff George Mapes said.

Dykes then bled his children in a car and drove to the home of his wife's sister, Mrs. Helen Persell.

Mapes said he called his sister-in-law to the car, gave her his five-month-old son's bottle and asked her to "take care of my children."

He then took his own life with the .410 shotgun before the children could get out of the car.

Mrs. Persell called Mapes and told him three-year-old Gordon said: "Daddy shot mommy at Grandmaw's."

Mapes said Dykes, while serving a sentence for a grand larceny conviction in the Missouri State Prison at Jefferson City, saved a guard's life during a riot in 1955.

Charged with Statutory Rape

Max Beasley, Carrier Mills youth, has been named in a warrant charging him with statutory rape, the complaint being signed by the mother of a 12-year-old local girl.

Two Senators Claim FBI, State Dep't Cleared Report on Envoy

WASHINGTON — The Democratic chairman and a Republican member of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee said Thursday that the State Department had checked with the FBI and "corroborated the truth" of subcommittee information linking a Canadian diplomat with communism.

They asserted also that the State Department "cleared for publication" the transcript of a hearing last month at which old subcommittee charges were revived and aired again.

They made these assertions in a statement telephoned to press associations by a subcommittee staff member. Later, the subcommittee asked that the statement be pulled back but one of the press associations, not the United Press, had already published it and refused to withdraw it.

The State Department had no immediate comment but said it would issue a statement later. The FBI declined comment.

Earl Thomas, 55, Brother of Mrs. Florence Coffee, Dies

Earl Thomas, 55, died at 5 p. m. yesterday, following surgery in the St. Mary's hospital in East St. Louis. Formerly a resident of Saline county, he was the son of the late William and Florence Thomas, deceased.

He had lived in the Washington park area of East St. Louis for several years and that was his residence at the time of his death. He was a former coal miner of Harco and Crab Orchard mines.

Mr. Thomas is survived by his sisters, Miss Ruth Thomas, East St. Louis, Mrs. Edith Warren, Centralia, Mrs. Mable Reynolds of Cottage Hills, near Alton, and Mrs. Florence Coffee of Harrisburg.

The body will be received at the Turner funeral home today and burial will be in the family plot at Liberty. Funeral plans will be announced later.

The diplomat, E. Herbert Norman, committed suicide last Thursday in Cairo where he was serving as Canadian ambassador to Egypt. Canadians attributed his act in part to the subcommittee's action in publishing charges which the Canadian government said it had disproved in 1951.

Angry Canadian reaction to the incident reached a climax Wednesday. The Canadian government said in a note that it no longer will supply security information to the U. S. government unless it receives a guarantee the information will not be given to congressional committees without Canada's advance consent.

President Eisenhower at his news conference and Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in a formal note to Canada disclaimed responsibility for the subcommittee's publication of the controversial transcript.

Thursday, however, in the statement which they tried to withdraw, Subcommittee Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) and Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) reported in a joint statement that "the State Department did not and could not disclaim" the Senate group's action.

Herb Score Shows Regular-Season Form as Indians Defeat the Giants, 4 to 1

By United Press

Herb Score, the Cleveland Indians' left-handed flamethrower, is ready to start shooting for a third straight major-league strikeout crown on opening day, if the Indians want him.

Showing no bad effects from the swollen right knee that has bothered him during spring training, the 23-year-old, 20-game winner at last showed regular-season form Wednesday night as he pitched seven shutout innings and fanned seven batters in a 4-1 triumph over the Giants at Miami.

Score's sizzling job against the Giants was doubly satisfying for him. For one, it came after some of his hometown fans from Lake Worth, Fla., honored him before

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Basketball fans who have watched the Harlem Globetrotters go through their funny stuff on the basketball floor will have an opportunity to watch them play honest-to-goodness basketball at Evansville's Municipal stadium Tuesday, April 16.

For the first time in history one of the games of the annual World Series of Basketball between the Harlem Globetrotters and the College All-Americans will be played at Evansville.

The show is scheduled to get underway at 8 p. m. with two variety acts. Then comes the star-studded basketball game. There will be other vaudeville acts at halftime of the ball game.

All-Americans who will play at Evansville include Lennie Rosenbluth (North Carolina), Chet Forte (Columbia), Jed Dommeyer (Minnesota), Gerry Calvert (Kentucky), Hank Nowak (Canisius), Dick Heise (DePaul), Dick O'Neal (Texas Christian), Bill Ebben (Detroit), John Smyth (Notre Dame).

Such favorites as Meadowlark Lemon, Leon Hillard, "Handy Andy" Johnson, Charlie Hoxie and Willie Gardner will be in the Globetrotters lineup.

Although there is a heavy demand for tickets so far, plenty of good seats are still available. Tickets are on sale at Woods Drugs, 19 S.E. Fourth street, and Lomax & Doerner Sporting Goods, 20 S.E. Second street, Evansville.

Center chairbacks are $3. Other chairbacks are $2.50. Bench seats in the center sections are $2 and other bench seats $1.50. All seats will be reserved.

Coach Al Adams of Eldorado plans to take a complete squad to the Mineral Area Track and Field meet at Hurst-Bush Saturday.

Among the veteran performers entered for the Eagles are Leonard Willis, top notch miler who took championship honors in the event in the district as a sophomore in 1956; Ben Dempsey, sprinter, hurdler and broad jumper; Don Kingery, high hurdler and Lester Feuquay, pole vault.

Promising performers from last year's freshman squad include David Reeves and Charles McCallister, sprints; Ronnie Watson and Tom Baugher, half milers.

Vern Rollins, Carrier Mills cage ace, has been working out on the cinder track and may take a try at the 440-yard dash in the Mineral Area meet at Hurst-Bush Saturday.

A. L. Willis, Carrier Mills coach, believes Rollins has the ability to become a winner in the quarter-mile event.

Gary Crews, Harrisburg boy attending University high school in Carbondale, is being groomed for the first base position on the school's baseball team.

Northwestern Raids Miami, O., U. For Cage Coach

EVANSTON, Ill. — Northwestern raided Miami University of Ohio for coaching help for the second time in less than a year Thursday, picking Bill Rohr to replace Waldo Fisher as the Wildcat basketball mentor.

Rohr, 38, will bring his top assistant, 25-year-old Bob Doll, with him.

Last spring, Northwestern grabbed Ara Parseghian from Miami to coach football and he directed the Wildcat gridders to four wins and a tie in nine outings last fall.

Yankees, Braves Rated Favorites By Odds-Makers

NEW YORK — The New York Yankees, rated Thursday at 1-3, were believed to be the short-priced pennant favorite ever listed by Broadway odds-makers.

The lopsided "book" on the American League race rated the other four "contenders" for the flag all at 8-1—the Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox, Detroit Tigers, and Boston Red Sox. Kansas City, Baltimore, and Washington were written off at 100-1.

The odds-makers switched away from the champion in the National League and rated Milwaukee a 7-5 pennant favorite. Champion Brooklyn was second choice at 2-1, followed by Cincinnati at 4-1, St. Louis at 6-1, Pittsburgh at 30-1, Philadelphia at 50-1, and New York and Chicago each 100-1.

Bull Dogs Blank Wildcats, 20-0

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs beat Carrier Mills, 20 to 0, in a five-inning baseball game at Carrier Mills yesterday afternoon.

Jerry King permitted no hits the first four innings. In the fifth Trevor Whiteside took the mound and allowed one hit and a walk, and struck out one. King walked two, hit one batter and struck out eight.

Van Hoy got the lone Wildcat hit.

Harrisburg picked up 12 hits off Jack Cowger and his successors, but also picked up 11 bases on balls. Carrier Mills hurlers struck out seven Harrisburg batters.

Coach John Dotson used 17 men, starting the following: Jim Cummins ss, Mickey Stone 2b, Ray Hassett c, Ron Maynard 3b, Don Pickford lf, John Wathen rf, John Ziegler 1b Bill Henshaw, cf and King and Whiteside p. Cummins, Stone, Pickford, Wathen and Ziegler each got two hits, with all but Wathen picking up doubles.

Harrisburg travels to Norris City Monday afternoon.

Ex-Major Leaguer Says Pitchers Are Ruining Arms

PITTSBURGH — Wilbur Cooper, a lefthander who won 216 major league games during a 14 year span, said Thursday "freak pitches and winter baseball" are "ruining" modern day pitchers.

"They're ruining their arms and cutting their careers short by experimenting with sliders, fork balls, knucklers and other freak deliveries," he said.

Cooper, who pitched for the Pirates, Cubs and Tigers from 1912 to 1926, said he never had a sore arm.

"I never knew what a sore arm was," he said. "Neither did the other pitchers of my day—like Grover Cleveland Alexander, Dazzy Vance, Christy Mathewson and Art Nehf. Outside of the spitball, none of the old timers experimented with freak pitches.

"All we had was a fast ball, curve, change of pace and the control that went with it. That's all the repertoire anyone needs to win in the majors. Today's pitchers could add years to their career by staying away from the freak deliveries. Those fancy pitches make for poor control. Take Robin Roberts for example. His control is so good because he doesn't experiment."

Cooper, the only Pirate pitcher ever to win more than 200 games, said managers of his day would "lower the boom" on any pitcher who experimented.

An Illinois Spectacular

One Hoss Gap--Carline Collyer Holler

By L. A. Dearing

When the forests are in full autumn color, then One "Hoss" Gap and "Carline Collyer Holler" surely should be visited. Not one of the famous Seven Wonders of Egypt; nevertheless, this wonder spot—it is one area—is unique and spectacular, and is of scenic importance.

About four miles below Herod, on Route 34, is a sign which reads, "Raun—12 miles." This Raun road runs west through hollows and over ridges which are reminiscent of mountain scenes in West Virginia. Big Grand Pierre creek is a welcome interlude, with considerable water, and cool, attractive shade. Beyond two concrete fords the road dips down into a short of interval, an isolated valley surrounded by high hills, large enough to be divided into several farms. This is a lovely valley, with a name right out of Genesis—Sodom. At the head of Sodom Valley, and west from the old Golconda-Lusk-Herod road is Carline Collyer Hollow and One Horse Gap.

Once Indian Short Cut

The one passage through a cliff of considerable length is up through a crevasse which is only wide enough for horsemen to ride in single file; hence the name "One Hoss Gap." Indians, according to Sodom legend, often used this gap as a short cut. On a rock at the lower entrance to the gap is, so 'tis claimed, a carving of a horse. Up above is one of the best of views of our southeastern Ozarks, with the hills of Kentucky in the background. This view, as might be expected, is best enjoyed from "Kentucky Rock." Also up above is "Kittle" Rock. The "Kittle," according to description, is an Indian kettle, and is supposed to be some four feet deep, and more than a foot wide. Water stands in this "Kittle," always. Bail it out, and come morning the "Kittle" will again be full of water, according to Sodomite source. Kentucky Rock, "Kittle" Rock, the petroglyph of the horse and the phenomenon of the ever-replenishing water, must, it is necessary to report, be discovered and identified on some later trip.

Over the ridge from One Hoss Gap is the head of Carline Collyer Hollow, and rock formations which are unlike any found elsewhere in our Ozark area.

Water-Worn Rocks

Atop the ridge are irregular rock masses, having a common characteristic. Most of these masses are rounded, and smooth. From a distance the rock forms might suggest a view across the backs of a large herd of elephants.

There is none of the irregular erosion which is characteristic at the Garden of the Gods, or of the sharper fractures which are common at Bell Smith Springs. These rocks, of conglomerate over finer sand, look water-worn. The great Illinois glacier reached to within ten air miles of the site—perhaps this is the reason.

Water has cut a steep chute through a cliff down into Carline Collyer Hollow. From the rounded rocks on the ridge the way down into the hollow is through a narrow, and almost hidden slit in the cliff, then down through a gap which was cut through the ridge many long ages ago. The depth of the hollow, and the height and steepness of the water chute is, at first sight, surprising, and, at all times, spectacular.

One "Hoss" Gap and cliff-lined "Carline Collyer Holler" is a pleasant area to explore. The wonder is that it is not better known outside the Sodom Valley community. Turn north at the loading chute, and inquire locally.

You can "stretch" whipped cream by adding the white of an egg and beating with the cream.
